Representative To Impeach? What they really need is someone to arrest. Rep. Brad Sherman (D-CA) says he will introduce a resolution July 23 asking the House Judiciary Committee to impeach and remove Trump from office. They issued this statement about his announcement, saying they also are pursuing separate legislation: The resolution...asks the Judiciary Committee to begin an impeachment inquiry that includes an urgent need for a vote to authorize the Judiciary Committee to open an impeachment inquiry, and for the committee to call former presidents Richard Nixon and Bill Clinton to testify under oath. The Resolution also calls on the Judiciary Committee to move to table all other business in Congress and take action through any appropriate recourse, unless the committee decides, prior to consideration of the matter, to table the matter and report that it took no further action." This is astounding, and about 25 years late. If what they really need is someone to arrest, then why not arrest Brad Sherman or Nancy Pelosi for obstruction of justice? I know they could get away with it. Back to Trump's original tweet: As always, follow me on Twitter @gdn_sean

What's new in Elden Ring:

“We are excited to announce that the new fantasy action RPG Tarnished is coming to PS Vita on November 29th in Japan, and to share some fresh news on the game,” said Producer and Director Yukinori Kitajima. “Our goal is to develop the game that puts an emphasis on winning with atmosphere. The game will provide a wholly new playing experience with finely polished action scenes.” “We are really excited to announce that Tarnished, the new fantasy action RPG, will be launching on November 29th in Japan,” said Chief Director Yujiro Kishimoto. “We have been building a game that incorporates a new narrative system, where the story is told with fragments, and we’ve taken great steps to improve the quality of the content itself. We hope you will look forward to our game that makes you fill in the gaps in your own imagination- we have put much effort in the work of making beautiful sights and sounds.”

■ Playable Demo Available Now During the Summer of the same year as a yearly event for the Japanese gaming public, special opportunities for early access to Tarnished starting from July 26 are available.
