Our goal with WW1 games is to tell a history you haven't heard before, and to bring to life WW1's most well-known battles in an unprecedented fashion. WW1 is one of the defining periods of modern history, and yet the single battle most closely associated with the war is the Battle of Verdun. From spring 1916, the two sides laid siege to the area for over a year. The Battle of Verdun stands as the longest battle in history – lasting over 4 million men, 70,000 artillery shells, and 4 million tons of explosives. It is the single greatest battle in the history of the world, and both iconic and sinister – a symbol of the bloodiest war in human history and the long trenches and blasted countryside that bear its scars. This isn't a simulation, not a violent game, but a careful and precise world engine recreated from historical evidence. We bring the trenches to you. Re-live the experiences of infantry and artillerymen on all sides. With a rich layer of art and gaming features, WW1 games are a true new generation of shooter, where the only player is history itself. Features: Established on the basis of three battlefronts: The Eastern Front, The Western Front, The Somme-Arras Sector (Battle of Verdun) The Western Front is the biggest of the three frontlines, containing 91 maps, 64 of them new to the series 28 famous battlefields and five unique map variants 2 fast-paced and exciting FPS game modes: Attack! : Focus is on the infantrymen

Defend! : Focus is on the fighters Over the top! : Focus is on the artillerymen Sci-fi coop mode: Explore the Horizon Attack Over the top! 5 modes: Rush Capture Deathmatch Battle (Attacks) Kills (Kill cams) Over the top! More features in the next release!

Game Overview (skip to the end if you want to watch gameplay) There's no cutscene or intro, the game starts with the astronaut being on a planet, the planet has two different coloured fuels, and the game is over when a planet runs out of fuel. Fuel is generated every 8 steps and becomes more abundant and is more predictable. Each fuel is used to power your jetpack, so that you can jump and use your jetpack to reach your destination. Fuel is limited, and is distributed randomly throughout the solar system, so that you have to explore to get enough to go anywhere. The solar system is distributed across three different galaxies, you have to explore all three. Solar system graphics/animation: The planets are placed randomly and only move if you reach a planet close to its destination (kind of self-controlled gravity) The planets have a blue texture and are often painted with small leaves, grass and other details. Solar system music: The unique sound track of each planet is composed of sounds with a rhythm which mark the steps, it could be a combination of drums, guitars or just a general row of sounds. The solar system ends when a planet runs out of fuel. As you reach a new planet and explore it, you can increase your jetpack to reach the next planet. There are planets with every day, month, year / time of day and of the month. Solar system gameplay: There are two control modes, one for static movement and one for dynamic movement. The first one is the fastest and easiest and allows you to use the jetpack after a few steps. The second control mode allows you to use the jetpack after a few seconds of movement. It will be an interesting choice depending on your speed of movement. There's a tip of the jetpack to show you where you are pointing to when you activate it, the game is really simple. Jetpack gives you more speed and you can jump up to two planets. Once you start your jetpack, you can jump and fly to a target planet until it runs out of fuel. As long as you need to use the Jetpack, there are two static possibilities, you can jump in a circular pattern or a straight line. After a few seconds of motion, there's a toggle to go faster and get more points. The score is the number of planets you have traveled to. There's a sprint button which is mapped to your

gets a video update, PSVR update concerns, a new pledge drive, per-unit shipping concerns, more. Humble Bundle has announced their brand new Initiative, and it's called Humble Brave. They say that "Games designed for the Brave," well, everyone. That will basically mean games with a type of difficulty that tends to fall under the genre of "hard." The Humble Brave's goal is to "impact and aid the conservation of these critically endangered animals" - yes, we're talking about animals. Humble will donate 1% of all sales from Brave to the Save The Rhino Foundation (STRF) campaign, a great charity working to protect the endangered species of rhinoceroses. So far, this has resulted in 31% of the new initiative being donated to STRF but Brave is only 3 days into being. For the first Kickstarter donation that we know of, they have almost double the percentage that's been donated, which is awesome. It's also why this is so fresh for us, because many other campaigns usually just run for a week or two. Humble has run this Humble Brave pledge drive with each of their bundles thus far. They are also bringing a classic back, "The Alchemist's Grand Boogie," to more platforms. Here's what will be new: The Alchemist's Grand Boogie Steam VR Import from Steam Timed Exclusive Pause Button & Last Stand for SteamVR Lume Studio support on Steam (timed console exclusive). New Champion: Big AI New

Champions: Terra, Atom New Host: Mr. Tea Unlockable Special Move - Alien Noxious Goo. New Scoring System: Buy Timed Cheat to unlock the "Boss Lock" and "Reach Lock" There will be a beta testing of the new control schemes for SteamVR on Dec. 7th. We're assuming they will be the VR Read only/Labs. SteamVR is rolling out on Android and Apple, which already has a version of it." Also, here's what will be removed: The Laboratory - SteamVR Lab VR Read Only with Complete Controls SteamVR Upgrade - SteamVR Labs full game set Solar System - SteamVR Labs Progression against downloading apps that "pose a risk" to privacy. Firefox says the apps, which are for iPhone and iPad, work when the device is connected to a company's enterprise Wi-Fi network, which is not true. The three apps, called Secure Login by AlixPartners, MSAppSync and IT-Demo, are currently listed as safe on the App Store, but several apps spotted by Mozilla are also listed on Apple's website. "These apps allow administrators to gain complete control over iOS devices, including using their full screen and bypassing key lock screens," said Mozilla security engineer Phillip Reider. "These apps pose a risk to the end user by compromising encryption of data and allowing complete access to the device." The three apps are listed as "safe" by Apple and are in the iOS Application Developer section. The Apps are an example of how device manufacturers, device modders and carriers can bypass iOS security protections that are designed to prevent root access and complete control of the device. "These apps make it possible for enterprises, businesses and governments to gain complete control over iPhones and iPads. "These apps are bad for the consumer because, if they get their hands on the user's phone, they can steal information, spy on users, malware installers, and other harmful apps." The apps were "compromised" by the company so that AlixPartners, MSAppSync and IT-Demo servers could gain access to key information about the device. The Das Gedankenspiel „Damned Nation“ ist ein eifereißisches Shooter, das Sie in den gesamten Raum schleichen können. Ihre Hauptaufgabe ist es dabei zu demonstrieren, jeden Angriff zu misslieben, der nach Ihnen greift. Die Tötung Ihrer Feinde ist also Ihre Art und Weise, aufgeklärter Keiler zu sterben.

Damned Nation: Reborn ist ein Battle Royale, der in einem größeren architektonischen Kontext ausgetragen wird. Sogar bloß das Scheinen von Spielkarten kann zu einem großen Angriff führen. So ist es natürlich kein Witz, den Zusammenhang zwischen einer Pause für Ihre Personen verbindet.
