Infinite - Beyond the Mind is a futuristic, retro platformer with combat that trades in medieval fantasy for steampunk-themed sci-fi. Equip Tanya with a shotgun and charge into the Beljantaur Army's defensive trench lines as she fights her way through enemy platforms, traps, cannon fodder and more - all while achieving new abilities and mastering new weapons. Olga is a twin sister of Tanya, she runs alongside her in battle and has her own unique set of abilities. Think of Olga as a guns-blazing second-in-command. Unlock her by completing certain challenges or you can just buy both characters at once. Play on your own or with a friend in co-op mode, and earn trophies to unlock in-game achievements in a fashion similar to Super Meat Boy! Key Features • 16 Levels across a brand new retro-futuristic sci-fi fantasy world. • Packing in some of the most fun, frenetic, and at times, brain-bending action gameplay on Steam. • Customize Tanya and Olga by equipping various weapons, skills, and potions along with access to new secrets for each. • Multiplayer co-op for up to two players! • Stunning 16-bit pixel art style with an amazing chibi look. • Taking the guards down in a whole host of unique and memorable boss fights! • Over 75 Challenges and 10 Achievements!
How to play: Arrow Keys - Move in the direction they are pointing Z / X - Jump and dash W / C - Move Tanya or Olga backwards or forwards V - Melee attack O - Score attack J / K - Release your special attack R - Finish collecting those points and find the exit R - Respawn - Allow Tanya and Olga to respawn and start over D - Skip enemy - completely Left Shift + Right Shift - Change Tanya's and Olga's direction of attack to that of the next of where they were facing (Switch Aim) Press Escape or number keys to pause Press Esc or number keys to go back to speed Gamepad Control: There are options for Gamepad Control: Free Run - Unlocks Free Running, allowing you to jump and double-jump Show Controls - Shows in-game controls Off - Turns off Gamepad controls External Controller (BTN+F1) - Gets rid of the HUD IAP: c9d1549cdd

* You are the pilot of a fighter spacecraft, aiming to keep your ship as safe as possible while you battle your opponent in one of the 7 arenas * You need to dodge rockets, asteroids, and other objects, along with the boosters that are falling from the rocket that you are in * You don't have access to your boosters * Choose two fighters to play offline against the AI * Your ship can fire one of the three weapons: Melee, APC, or Land Attack * APC fires a missile attack * Melee weapon fires a laser beam * Landing Attack fires a land attack that will destroy an object in the arena * Land Attack can fire multiple times to destroy multiple objects * You have access to one land attack that you can use to destroy the asteroids and rockets * During the match, you can be hit by other objects and get damaged * In Instant Action, you can immediately make repairs * You lose the match when you get hit by the boosters falling from your own rocket * Your fighter's speed varies * You can use land attacks to destroy objects, or you can dodge/inflict damage to other objects * When you destroy all the objects in the arena, you win! Game "Draid" Gameplay: * You are the commander of a larger battle ship, called the Droneship * Droneships are battle groups with several smaller ships that are sent to a mission and provide backup support for their larger ship * Droneships are command-controlled and they follow your orders * You choose one fighter pilot to follow you, and work with you in the mission * You need to dodge rockets, asteroids, and other objects, along with the boosters that are falling from the rocket that you are in * You can release drones * Drones will follow your orders and they will fire on any objects * Drones are more vulnerable to damage and when their health is low, they will fall to the ground * You can repair drones * You can hold drones and control them with the 'Hurt/Freeze Drone' action * You lose when all the drones in the Droneship are destroyed "Draid" Game "Drones" Multiplayer: * Play as a fighter pilot against the AI, or join a game for real players * You get points based on the destruction you cause, and also based on your damage inflicted * You can use land attack to destroy objects, or you can dodge/

Multicultural news from occupied Europe. Tuesday, February 28, 2014 Hell yes! It's Pavol Demitra! I remember being a kid and thinking I'd someday be old enough to see a Czech win the Stanley Cup. The memories are as fresh as the morning they were etched into my brain over twenty years ago. I remember hearing from some U.S. elementary school teacher about some big part of the story and the story today was about current NHL player Pavol Demitra throwing his hat in the race. Personally, I've always liked Demitra's game a lot. I think he plays entertaining hockey and he moves the puck well. I also agree with others who have said that he has offensive numbers of not too shabby. And he is a performer, having played for at least 5 different teams this season in the NHL, and that's what matters most. I don't think it's exactly coincidental that when we were headed towards the end of the season, right after the All-Star break, and the Canucks were on a roll, the Vegas Golden Knights had been swept in the Pacific. The current storyline is the Golden Knights, which means you don't have to be a hockey genius to figure out that they'd be a Stanley Cup winner a year from now. I could see that they'd have every chance to be an absolute juggernaut once they took the puck (or puck-shaped pieces of fiberglass)! But the last few weeks the Golden Knights have gone nuts and they've had some notable players at the top of their game. There was Paul Stastny, David Backes, and a guy they call The Ghost. But we've also got a lot of teenagers playing in the playoffs, and Demitra's a one of those. Demitra's skill is well known but what's not well known is that he's still a Cardinal. He still plays in his off-season homeland, he still trains under the 'umpires' (ice batons) of JJ, and he still plays for KHL powerhouse Ak Bars Kazan. He has played since childhood in KHL contests, where he used to get into fights. Nobody seems to have bothered to explain why it was that when I told my wife a few months ago that I was hoping to see the Blues win the Cup she uttered: "Oh no, not that Novak. He's too little." Apparently being Canadian doesn't

Whence We Came is a tactical turn-based top-down game set in a minimalist medieval simulation-inspired universe. you must confront orcs, doomsday cultists, and other medieval "mischief makers" as you attempt to forge a new life for yourself in the Great Green Wood. Your very character, your weapon, your armour, and the world all come as a package. Retro, modern, and straight up, easily, accessible, weird, or unusual, the world of Whence We Came is yours to play. They are designed for single player play by default, and I frequently release the game to a closed beta, and evaluate the effectiveness of the multiplayer component and how it is received in that context, before calling it production ready. From the early days of my game "Melvin Fauna" multiplayer was one of the first things I released to the public. I have now released multiplayer to my new game "A New Dawn", an internally released game I am currently working on, and the community feedback of this early stage game has also been an important part of why I
